SOUTH AFRICA'S LEGENDARY CANE FARMER
THE HISTORY OF THE BODASING FAMILY

NOW IN PRE-PRODUCTION

ANTLER STUDIOS® WILL COMBINE TWO CONCEPTS INTO ONE

Season 3 of The Dome Cooking Show becomes a Four-Part Cinematic Homecoming: Canada's Top TV Chef Duran Bodasing returns to South Africa to walk the exact sugar-cane rows his great-great-grandfather Babu Bodasing (the most legendary Indian sugar farmer in African history) turned into an empire in the late 1800s. From the ashes of indenture to the sweetness of legacy, Chef Duran unearths never-before-seen family archives, cooks over cane-stalk fires using 130-year-old techniques, and transforms secret Bodasing recipes into jaw-dropping modern plates alongside cousins, aunts, and uncles who still farm Babu's original land in Durban SA. Each episode is a love letter to this beautiful country & Durban's Indian soul: temple prayers at dawn, midnight bunny chow runs, monster beach braais with 200+ relatives, and a final feast under the stars where every dish narrates a chapter of Babu's life celebrated by his eldest great great grandson. This is not just another food show; it's heritage on a plate, healing across generations, and the most personal, powerful story ever told by a Chef.
