

CANADA'S FAVOURITE INDIE COOKING SERIES RETURNS FOR SECOND SEASON AS THE CITY OF VANCOUVER'S BUSIEST CHEF / TV PRODUCER TAKES HIS BRAND TO NEW HEIGHTS!

'The Dome Cooking Show' – Vancouver's only independently-owned, reality-lifestyle series – hits the airwaves for a new season as Chef Duran Bodasing branches out into print, events, and executive catering!

VANCOUVER BC CANADA / FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE NOVEMBER 25, 2025

Two years after a chance meeting turned an eight-minute, home-shot pilot into a broadcast series, Vancouver designer, restaurateur, and chef Duran Bodasing is back with a brand-new season of his indie hit, The Dome Cooking Show (TDCS), which premiered October 11 on CHEK TV, with same-day availability on CHEK+ VOD and YouTube.

Never one to sit still, Chef Duran spent the months between post-production and release expanding his creative portfolio – adding a magazine column, product collaborations, food-focused events, and even celebrity catering to his growing list of accomplishments.

The show's signature mix of fast, flavourful dishes and Bodasing's high-energy hosting landed him on the cover of Iconic Concierge Magazine, which quickly led to a regular food-lifestyle column. Then, during final post-production, he served as private chef to seven-time Grammy Award-winning R&B icon Toni Braxton during her three-week stay in British Columbia filming The Golden Years for A&E Lifestyle Network.

"This is exactly what I love doing – working with my team at Antler to show people they can make bold, flavour-forward meals themselves," says Duran from his studio home. Right now we're developing two new products, and we are looking forward to bringing my new 'Cheeseburger' themed art show to the city in 2026 in conjunction with Art Vancouver as part of their 10th anniversary celebrations. 'The Cheeseburger Show' trailer premieres Q1 2026. Lastly Chef Duran is currently scouting & shooting locations for his Season 3 of TDCS - 'BABU - Chef Duran's African Adventure'. In this 6 part mini-series, Chef Duran travels back to his birthplace of South Africa to retrace his lineage of his famous great great grandfather Babu Bodasing - Africa's most celebrated cane farmer. Shot entirely along the beautiful, stunning landscapes of South Africa, Duran will celebrate food, culture & his family. It's a wild ride for our Chef as he pushes his limits for adventure & culinary discovery. The trailer is slated for Q1 2026.

With top-shelf sponsors like Ninja/Shark, Broil King, and Canada's largest bank RBC, and Duran's trademark flair and showmanship, there's no limit to where The Dome Cooking Show – and the Chef Duran brand – can go next.
